- Screenshots:A day after a mob beat up a Muslim man at a grocery store in Mississippi, the police officers responsible for protecting the victim say they do not understand why the supermarket employees did nothing to stop the attack. The store employees seemed concerned as they called the police on July 4 to report that two men wearing white shirts were arguing. But they called off the police after the man was attacked and beaten, and the officers who responded also did not arrest or detain the attackers. The day after the attack, the officers refused to tell reporters what had happened to the man, instead saying they did not want to inflame tensions. The day after a mob beat up a Muslim man at a grocery store in Mississippi, the police officers responsible for protecting the victim say they do not understand why the supermarket employees did nothing to stop the attack. The man, who was wearing a traditional Muslim outfit, was apparently eating alone while pushing a cart through the store at around 1pm when a white man in a car parked nearby yelled at him. As the man continued walking, the man got out of his vehicle, spoke to him, and then attacked him, pushing him to the ground and causing him to fracture his wrist. "When you see such a thing, you look away, you don't look at the person, because you get afraid," said Luis Marcello, the man's relative, who was in the car. As the man was being attacked, a man, later identified as a police officer, came over and spoke to the white man in his vehicle. The officer then turned around, walked back over to the man being assaulted, stood there for a few minutes, and then disappeared, Ms Mar b7e8fd5c8

What's New in the Starck Clock Screensaver?

Welcome to the world of glass time! It is the classic carbon-fibre watch with the futuristic design and elegant appearance. It is designed by Philippe Starck, the famous French designer and just so happens to be on a very high tech device of his own, the watch of course! Anyways, it is time for you to launch the "Solar" sun that hangs the classic world on its back. The Solar clock is based on the simulation of the movement of the real sun and it will be a very fast one. The virtual sun will move around the sky, showing you a digital version of the solar movement. The movements of the real sun are shown with the right analogic hands and when they are in the right position, you will see the corresponding hands in the right time zone. Starck Clock Screensaver features: * Simple installation with just two clicks * Runs with low system resources * Multilingual (English, Czech, Polish, Russian,...) * Animated sun * A choice of various sizes * A choice of various clocks * Predefined effects (days/night, ...) * Adjustable time zone * Battery saving modes (moon, ...) * Various themes (sunrise, sunset, ...) * Night-mode * 3D Earth-viewer * Wallpaper support * Many more... Through the use of graphics, the user can navigate the expansive view of space. Stars and galaxies are displayed in glorious abundance, and the user can explore from the comfort of his/her own home. It is a great tribute to the study of astronomy and serves to bring the stargazing into the daily routine of every computer user. Starry Sky Screensaver Description: From the depths of space, the Milky Way is stretched over the whole visible sky. The sky is full of stars; some of them are so bright that you can see them only with the naked eye. One can see a star in almost every direction of the sky. A single star will be seen in the Milky Way as an oblong yellowish disk. This is due to the fact that it is seen as a single, very bright source of light with a very diffuse nebula or halo surrounding
